PLEASE READ CAREFULLY BEFORE UNPACKING YOUR PRINT

Your print is shipped flat with durable packing materials. I have inspected your print for flaws and guarantee that it has been shipped in perfect condition. As such, I cannot be responsible for damage that occurs during the unpacking process. Please exercise the utmost care in removing the print from the packaging, and follow these guidelines:

- Keep all food and liquids away from your work area.
- Carefully remove the tape that secures the prints to the cardboard.
- DO NOT touch the printed surface under any circumstances - the oils from your skin will damage the surface. For larger prints, I have enclosed white gloves for your convenience in handling.
- When removing the print from the packaging, slide it directly onto a large, clean table, or use the included cardboard backing at all times to prevent the surface from bending and creasing.
- Be sure to keep your print flat AT ALL TIMES. When lifting the print, hold by opposite corners ONLY!! Holding the prints in any other way will cause a crease, and ruin your print (an expensive lesson).
- If you plan to have the print professional framed, I recommend you defer handling of the print to your framer.
